

WANDERER TO HANG FOR KILLING RAGGED STRANGER

Had Been Tried and Sentenced to 25 Years in Penitentiary for Wife-Murder.

FRAMED A MURDER HOLD-UP

Accused a Hero Until Police Discovered Both Revolvers Employed in Double Killing Belonged to Him—Was an Army Lieutenant.

[By United News.]
CHICAGO, March 18.—Carl Wanderer will die by a hangman's noose. So decided a jury today in returning a verdict in the recent case for which Wanderer, a former army lieutenant, and described by the State prosecutors as the "arch-murderer of all time," has stood trial.

The verdict ends one of the most unusual criminal cases tried here in many years.

Wanderer was tried and sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary for the murder of his wife.

Alleged to Have Killed Tramp.

At the same time he was alleged to have killed a tramp whom he called a "poor boob" who had hired as a dupe to make his crime appear like self-defense against a robber. It was for the killing of this "poor boob" that he was tried a second time—and sentenced to hang.

Wanderer, a crack shot, was found in the hallway of his home, standing over the bodies of his wife, who was to become a mother, and the "poor boob," he said that the man had tried to rob him on his return from a theater with his wife and had killed her, and that he had shot the robber dead in the ensuing struggle.

Wanderer was acclaimed a hero for several days, until detective discovered that both revolvers used in the shooting belonged to him. Then it was discovered he had hired the "poor boob" to take the robbery, promising him money, and that when the dupe had gone through with the plan Wanderer had killed both his wife and his accomplice.

Public Reckoning Intense.

When a jury sentenced him to twenty-five years in prison for the murder of his wife, public reckoning was so intense that he was taken from the penitentiary and made to stand trial for killing the "poor boob." So it is for this crime, and not the murder of his wife and her unborn child that he will hang.

Wanderer, according to alienists, was mentally unbalanced. He has never expressed regret for his crimes, nor interest in his fate. The only subject on which he is interested, according to the alienists, is his army experiences in France.

The jury deliberated twenty-nine minutes before returning the verdict fixing punishment of death on the gallows.

HONOR FIRE HEROES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

(Continued From First Page.)

he squad to act as officers at the City Auditorium, and Captain Samuels has named the following men for specific places: J. H. Harris, A. L. Toler, W. M. Owens, T. J. Fagan, J. C. Sauer, J. W. Butler, J. W. Daniels, C. B. Driscoll, J. W. Reams, L. F. Pugh.

Continue Efforts for Fund.

With unabated zeal, the workers for the Merchants and Citizens Relief Fund, continued their efforts yesterday with the exciting result that far aggregated $18,000 at noon yesterday, with many contributions still pouring in.

The committee in charge of the relief fund yesterday made public a message, asking the churches of Richmond to contribute to the fund.

The churches of Richmond, which are the churches of the city, are asked to contribute to the fund. The committee in charge of the relief fund yesterday made public a message, asking the churches of Richmond to contribute to the fund.

School Children Contribute.

Yesterday the school children of the city were given the opportunity to contribute to the fund, and while the results figures are at present being obtained, it is thought that these contributions will materially swell the present total.

It is expected that at least some of the hundreds of the committee engaged in the three-fold investigation into the causes and consequences of the fire will report today.

Corner Whitehead will hold a quest into the cause of the fire deaths this morning.

When the case of Policeman H. O. Leode, charged with the theft of two lamps, a music box and a table from the home of the Burgess-Hopkins fire last Sunday, came up in Police Court yesterday, it was ordered continued to next Monday. Leode was released on $200.

The pupils and faculty of Armstrong High School, (colored), held memorial services today in assembly rooms of the school, in honor of the fire fighters.

Professor W. M. Adams, principal, was speaker of the hour, his subject was Duty.

Wanting It Done and Getting It Done Is Easy.

Find the right person to give the proper advice made easy through this directory.

Business Services Offered 18

LOUIS HOSPITAL. Dots repaired. All kinds of work made from your own designs. HAZEL, 222 North Third Street.

REUPHOLSTERING—Baby carriages, reupholstered, reupholstered and repaired. Wheel repaired. E. R. BROWN, Willow Works. Phone Randolph 1471.

Painting—Papering 24

WALL PAPER—the most beautiful selection of wall paper now displayed in this city. E. H. BROWN, 102 S. Eighth St.

Printing—Stationery 20

BUSINESS CARDS—Lowest quality. The $1.00 kind. Make Printing Co. 41 East Main Street.

Musical, Dancing, Dramatic 41

MRS. LINDA NALLAN, dancing studio, 222 N. 2nd St. Phone 1711. Rate and class lessons. Randolph 1711.

Rooms for Room-keeping 60

GRACE E. 209—Furnished light house-keeping rooms for rent to married couples only.

These advertisements are placed at random from the classification and are duplicated on the Want Ad Page. See other advertisements there today.

Jurymen Sample Liquor Taken From Cuban Ship

(By Associated Press.)

TAMPA, Fla., March 18.—"Have a drink, boys, and see for yourselves if it is not the real stuff." When District Attorney Herbert S. Phillips extended this invitation to the jury in Federal Court here yesterday and proffered bottles of whisky, brandy and wine, part of the 2,000 quarts seized recently aboard the Cuban schooner, Remplaza, only one juror failed to accept.

He merely sniffed the aroma of the contents while the others split it eleven ways. Then the jury returned a verdict finding the captain and mate and two deck hands, the crew of the schooner, guilty of violating the prohibition laws.

VIVIANI, ALL-EUROPE ENVOY, TO ASK U. S. TO SUPPORT LEAGUE

(Continued From First Page.)

cept her disowned child, minus Article X. There does not appear to be in the Senate, which is prepared to assert again its pressure on foreign relations, very much sentiment in favor of Viviani's mission. However, some of the leaders indicated today a willingness to allow the Knox peace resolution, or the substitute that may be drawn for it, to rest until after the distinguished visitor has concluded his call. They said they have decided to present a discourteous front to the French statesman and agreed that adoption of the peace resolution might look like a slap in the face if it were done while he is here.

Not Attempt to Influence U. S. Some Senators are disinclined to regard the one-man junket as a serious attempt to influence this country. Were it the purpose of the French government, they say, to undertake definite negotiations on so important and so involved a subject as the complete reversal of the administration's declared foreign policy, the character of the mission might be expected to be different.

Official negotiations must be between Viviani and Secretary Hughes. Viviani speaks no English. Hughes speaks no French. Interpreters are plentiful, but President Wilson can testify to the difficulties of working with a foreign government who speak a language and thinking in it are two different things. With Hughes and Viviani it will not be possible even to speak in the same language. How far apart their thoughts are bound to be is further indicated by the very different political training the two have had. Viviani represents the Polish, but hard school of French and continental practical politics. He is only a recent convert to the league of nations himself, while Hughes, his experience confined to domestic affairs, is a former advocate of a modified league, now committed to the Harding idea of a new association of nations.

Immediate Move Temote. There cannot be found in the Senate much expectation of immediate movement toward developing the Harding plan. Concern is manifest almost entirely with economic questions that can be handled apart from the league—or, at least, that it is desired to handle apart from the league.

Viviani is said to be prepared to point out that the allies and the United States cannot abandon the covenant because it is inseparably involved with the peace terms, the administration of occupied territory, Danzig and Polish corridor are in the hands of the league. Here it is argued that the real reason the French do not wish to have the league dissolved is the fear that it would be impossible to substitute allied administration for that of the league. Italy, it is declared, would not be party to a new arrangement whereby she as one of the allies had to administer the affairs of Danzig, for example. Italy's policy, in contrast with that of France, is based on a desire to avoid entanglement with Germany and she does not wish to be involved in the endless disputes that may be anticipated over the control of Danzig. Because of Italy's attitude, it is argued, France desires to keep the league organization rather than risk a failure to hold the allies together outside the league.

Questions of International Policy. An association of nations, such as Harding is presumed to have in mind, does not contemplate the features France finds most to her liking in the present league. For this reason it is hard to see where Viviani will find common ground for discussion when he arrives.

Another question of international policy is likely to intervene. That is the disposition of the American loans to the allies. Many Senators wish to have the matter of refunding these loans disposed of before discussions of the league or of a new association are taken up in earnest. The matter of the loans, in fact, looms in large bulk over every other question of our European relations. It can be expected to figure importantly in any conference leading up to an agreement between this country and Great Britain concerning naval armaments. If England ultimately consents to a ton-for-ton naval arrangement with the United States it is likely that the necessity for obtaining a refunding of her debt to the United States will play an important part in bringing about this decision.

His last request was that he be buried in the Arlington Cemetery among his Confederate comrades. He will be buried at the foot of the monument to the Confederate dead in Arlington, the unveiling of which eight years ago marked his last visit to America. The governor of Virginia has expressed his intention of appointing a delegation to represent the State at the obsequies.

PERSHING ASSAILS TRAITORS WHO TRY TO SPLIT U. S. AND ALLIES

(Continued From First Page.)

we abhor the intriguer, who, at the same time, would secretly plot against our interests.

"Two years have passed, and what of today? Are we to forget the vows of yesterday? Is the wanton destruction in France and Belgium, and on the seas to be condoned? Shall subtle propaganda again lift its poisonous head to weaken our friendships? Are those who made the supreme sacrifice no longer to be remembered among us?"

America Will Remain Steadfast. "The answer is that the principles for which America fought are immutable, and the allies beside whom we fought are our friends. America shall remain steadfast in her attitude against aggression and insist that outlaw nations be held to full responsibility and pay the full penalty for their misdeeds, to the end that in the future all nations may know the cost of such misdeeds against civilization."

Senator Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, declared obedience to law was one of the fundamental duties of an American citizen, and said the Red radical, "breathing out threatenings and brandishing the torch, is no more dangerous than the colorless, spineless citizen who weakly consents to the violation of the law."

Harding Indorses Purpose. Senator James W. Wadsworth, of New York, and Major-General Leonard Wood, who had been invited to speak at the meeting, sent letters regretting that they were unable to attend. Letters informing the meeting were received from President Harding and American legion posts and State headquarters all over the country, and from the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans.

President Harding telegraphed Senator Gurnea his inability to address the meeting.

"I am not unfamiliar with the purposes of the gathering," the telegram stated, "and am glad to give them my cordial indorsement. I hope you may have a great outpouring that shall voice the best and most determined ideals of American patriotism."

In discussing the adjustment of our national life to peace, Colonel William J. Donovan, former commander of the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Infantry in France, said:

"If we have done well in war, we have only earned the right to begin doing better in peace. Our best and highest achievement is not a tremendous military effort, but the making of a finer and better nation. We must see that our population shall not disintegrate into its European elements."

The list of standing of members appears in The Evening Dispatch today, and it will appear again in the Richmond Times-Dispatch. It will be seen from this list that while many are entered, there is still room for many more. It is positively not too late to enter, quite to the contrary, it is just the right time. One can now enter now while the big extra fund is in effect and in a very short time make an unusually showing.

Wide-awake men and women are wanted in every community. There is an award or a commission for everyone. It is really an unusual opportunity, but it should be taken advantage of without further delay. Send in your name and address today and be one of the fortunate ones on May 25.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

Pass Third Reading of Bill. [By Associated Press.] LONDON, March 18.—The House of Commons tonight passed the third reading of the reparations bill. The bill provides for a levy of 50 per cent on German goods, but this provision will not be effective until March 31.

After the House of Commons had passed the measure it was read for the first time in the House of Lords.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

U. S. Delegates to Await Instructions. WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates have been forwarded to the State Department to Roland W. Bagten and his staff of experts comprising the unofficial American delegation to the reparations commission at Paris, to remain there and await instructions. It was learned today, Mr. Bagten said, that the delegation will probably keep in touch informally with the work of reparations.

Now Use Flivvers in "Shooting Up" Towns

[By International News Service.]

MUSKOGEE, OKLA., March 18.—"Bad men" are still shooting-up towns in Oklahoma, but styles have changed. Frank Swift, a modern "Oklahoma bad man," is under a three-month sentence in the State penitentiary for shooting-up Broadway, the main street in Muskogee.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.

Swift rode down the thoroughfare at breakneck speed, firing dozens of shots. Although a score of buildings were struck by the spraying bullets, no person was shot. His raid had all the earmarks of the wild and woolly frontier days, except—his road on a Ford truck instead of the usual bucking broncho.